

Drive-Through Java

The morning rush hour brings more than a few cars to this former gas station turned coffee-fueling station, and why not? You can get a full dose of caffeine here in the time it takes Superman to do a fly-by. Best of all, the espresso drinks are top-notch—Island Bean Co. owners Paul Schwendeman and fiancée Dorie Hill traveled to the nation's coffee capital, Seattle, to train as baristas before opening their North Hills destination last January. They offer everything from to-go snacks and smoothies to a full menu of espresso drinks.
